

Anne Fearman - Officer for Contingents

I've been an adjunct lecturer in the English Department and a member of UUP for 18 years, as well as a UUP activist for nearly a decade. My focus is on gaining parity and inclusion for all contingent faculty (adjuncts and lecturers) and working to eliminate disenfranchisement and inequitable pay. Additionally, I seek to help create pathways to permanent positions for adjuncts and lecturers. As the current Chair of the statewide Contingent Employment Committee, one of our largest and most involved statewide committees, I'm privy to the struggles and rare victories of our contingent members across SUNY. I would like to serve as The Officer for Contingents so that I can then advocate for contingents at both the campus and statewide levels for maximum benefit. Contingent goals across SUNY are quite similar: access to UUP benefits, support towards financial and job security, and a seat at the table when decisions are made.
